Stories of Student Success
and Institutional Transformation

The story of an institution is the story of the people, places, and communities that serve its students. Conversations about student success often focus solely on graduation rates or other benchmark data that can obscure the true impact that institutions, programs, and people have on the human beings served. ACCJC On The Move is about our journey to understand the distinct missions of the 137 institutions ACCJC serves, and the promising impactful practices changing lives inside and outside the classroom.

This week we are pleased to feature Mendocino College! Please take a look at the excerpt below, and check out www.accjconthemove.org for the full featured article.

Mendocino College

Mendocino College is a California public two-year institution located in rural Northern California and serves over 5,000 students. Averaging fewer than 25 residents per square mile, with their unique geographic and demographic landscapes, Mendocino and Lake Counties are quintessential examples of rural America. President Powell had the opportunity to visit the main campus in Ukiah earlier this year and was struck by the rolling hills and how the campus seamlessly fits into the surrounding nature.

In addition to the main campus and three centers, President Tim Karas shared that dual enrollment and community partnerships are critical strategies to increase access to higher education to every community in Lake and Mendocino Counties.
